

History is written every day.

Today, somewhere, someone you've never heard of is...

...working quietly in a medical research lab, curing a disease.

...starting a business that will change the way people travel, or work, or heat their homes.

...writing a great novel.

...vowing to one day be elected president.

...staring at an injustice and deciding, "Enough."

Every day counts. And today, future leaders whose contributions will benefit us all are attending colleges and universities supported by the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Fund. We believe in our nation's young people and are committed to helping them reach their full potential.

MBNA is proud to support the Thurgood Marshall Scholarship Fund in preparing a new generation of leaders.
